

Sophie has worked as a professional writer for over two decades. A lifelong generalist and former librarian, Sophie's broad interests and knack for making complicated subjects come to life for lay audiences are her most notable superpowers. You can find her work online in venues including Vulture, Town & Country, Alma, and her weekly cultural recommendations and criticism newsletter, Two Bossy Dames.