

Author's Bio

For three decades Kathy Biehl has covered food, drink, and the behaviors they inspire, for national, regional, and city publications; she has also written frequently about popular culture, off-beat travel, law, and astrology. Her anthology, Eat, Drink & Be Wary: Cautionary Tales, was shortlisted for the 2022 Eric Hoffer Award Grand Prize. Kathy's writing has also won awards from the Association of Food Journalists, the Houston Press Club, and the Texas Bar Journal, as well as the title "Pseudo Food XPert" from a review subject she'd caught impersonating a competitor. Her next anthology, Confessions of a Third-Rate Goddess, is coming in Fall 2023.
