

Marci Ober

Marci Wolff Ober, LMFT, is a licensed marriage and family therapist who for thirty years has worked with a wide variety of clients, in roles ranging from family therapist to clinical director of a major psychiatric hospital, and is also a certified yoga teacher. For the past twenty years she has concentrated her efforts on her private practice while raising her family in northern New Jersey.

Marci and her daughter, Courtney, founded the KrazyGirl Project, a 501(c)(3) charity in 2020, whose mission is to bust mental health stigma and provide effective mental wellness strategies, free of charge, worldwide.

Please feel free to edit the above to fit your space requirements.